Redeemer WELCA News for March

WELCA will meet on Sunday, March 3d, in the church library at 3:45 PM for its business meeting. At 4:00 we will be looking at Chapter 3 in our Love Stories of the Bible. This chapter is about Adam and Eve. All women and friends of the congregation are invited to attend.

Congratulations to Aubrey Guyton who was honored on BOLD Women's Sunday with a South Carolina Women of the ELCA Honorary Life Recognition. Aubrey received this for her dedicated work with the children and youth of the Lutheran Church of The Redeemer and the Newberry Community.

Grace and peace to each of you this month! We enter into March and hit the ground running, don't we? We will journey through the bulk of Lent and into Easter (Easter Sunday is March 31st).

As I think about where we've been and where we will go as a community of faith this month and year, knowing the stories of our faith continues to be squarely on my mind.

As most of y'all know, we have been moving through the Narrative Lectionary, which – if you discuss it with your friends after services on Sundays – is different than what other Lutheran churches are doing. We get to enter into the story of faith from Genesis, through the prophets, into the story of Jesus, and the work of the Apostles. We get to see where we are a part of this story and how we can continue to know this story of faith more deeply and intimately. It is truly a blessing for us to walk through the stories of our faith each year.

As I've been teaching at Newberry College at the end of last semester and throughout this semester, I'm struck by how little we know about these stories. There has been quite a lot that I didn't even remember. I had a conversation with one of my students who was a bit bummed because, as she stated, 'I've gone to church all my life, and I feel like I don't know any of this.' I assured her that she was not alone in that thought. There are a lot of faithful folks who don't know these stories very well.

So, what a perfect opportunity during this season of Lent to read into these stories that we might not know much about. Do you remember the story of Judge Ehad? How did the prophet Elisha deal with some kids who were bullying him? Has God only spoken through people (no, God has not...)? Do you remember what Moses made those who worshipped the golden lamb do before they continued their wandering in the wilderness? There are so many exciting stories about our faith.

Then, when we read these stories, it makes us wonder why those stories might have been written – who was that initial audience, what was the author hoping to convey to their people, and how do we fit into that story as well? Of course, some of these stories are not the easiest to digest. Some can be confusing; many are long and appear daunting to read. One of the best resources I've come across that helps give context and guidance into how we read scripture is the Bible Project. A series of videos that help summarize, share highlights, and touch on themes within scripture. You can check it out at bibleproject.com.

Lent provides us with many opportunities to sit, pause, and reflect on this story of faith we are part of. May each of us dive into these stories, learn more about our faith, and be invited into deep conversations with one another about how we all fit into this grand story that God has placed us in!

Thanks for being y'all, y'all. God loves you and so do I!

Positive response to the Stewardship Campaign

Thank you, response letters will go out soon.

Finance Committee /Treasurer's Report – Dr. John Green, liaison and chairman: – added $2,400 to general and $2,000 to maintenance budgets.

The Constitution states to provide a written report of all transactions to the council. This was recently realized, and we want to ensure the council gets the desired material.

Discussion highlighting the council's desire not to have a detailed report of all transactions.

The current report method to the council each month is appropriate.

Note: Change needed to the Constitution. This is a goal for this year's council.

Property Committee – Huger Caughman, Sr., liaison: emailed report.

Question: Is the roof going to fall in? Was work completed from the last repair?

Still working to fix leaks in the roof. As we fix one area, problems shift to new locations.

Testing tiles, but underlayment still seems to be the significant issue.
